Day - 3 Siem Reap

SIEM REAP: KBAL SPEAN - BANTEAY SREY (B, L)

Leave the busy streets of Siem Reap behind and head for the deep countryside around the city. The route today meanders through rice fields and quiet dirt paths filled with farmers and locals going about their daily business. Pass through the small village and market of Pradak, which sits in the middle of the ancient (and dry) East Baray, an old Angkorian reservoir. Turn down quieter roads leading to the distant Banteay Samre. After visiting, push further away from the city around the small mountain of Phnom Bok into the deep countryside. Ahead loomed the massive ridges of Phnom Kulen, the birthplace of the Khmer Empire. Nestled into a gap in the ridge lies Kbal Spean, one of the earliest Hindu pilgrimage sites in Cambodia. A moderate 3 km trek up a gentle incline through dense jungle leads to the "River of 1000 Lingas". Carved into the very riverbed are images from Hindu scripture and small stone lingas used for religious purposes. Lunch at local restaurant. The last stop of the day is Banteay Srei, the so-called "Citadel of the Women", which remains the best-preserved temple in Cambodia.
